A Taste of Independence

2019 sees an exciting and delicious new offering from Wellington's Bolton Hotel with a complete overhaul of their minibar.

Local brands from the Wellington region feature heavily in the hotel's new, more luxurious, offering, with Ata Rangī wine from the Martinborough Terrace, all-natural soft drinks from Six Barrel Soda based in Wellington's Luke's Lane and sweet treats from the boutique Kapati Candy Co and Porirua's confectionary powerhouse Whittaker's.

Miniature plastic bottles of spirits, synonymous with typical hotel minibars are out. In their place are beautifully handcrafted cocktails from J.M.R Cocktail & Co, mixed, bottled and labelled by hand by the hospitality powerhouse that is Amy Alexander and Wellington local Jonny McKenzie.

"We find that guests are increasingly rejecting the 'chain mentality' and searching for authentic experiences. With the introduction of some of the Wellington region's most lauded brands, our minibar now fully reflects our independent spirit, boutique approach to hospitality and provides a distinctly Wellington experience."

- Hannah Chinnery, Hotel Manager, Bolton Hotel

As Wellington's premier independent, Bolton Hotel has always championed like-minded brands and local businesses, already sourcing staff uniforms from Wellington designer Wilson Trollope and Lambton Quay tailor Harfords Menswear, the hotel's new minibar offering is no different.

About Bolton Hotel:

Bolton Hotel is Wellington's finest independent hotel, just steps from the Parliament buildings and CBD and within walking distance of the vibrant waterfront. With a choice of 139 stylish and comfortable rooms and eight different room types, from elegant studios to one and two bedroom suites, there's something to suit everyone.
