

SWISS-BELHOTEL INTERNATIONAL ANNOUNCES PRESENCE AT TRENZ 2019

For Immediate Release

7 May 2019

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND – Discover your place, your space, your city at this month's TRENZ expo (May 13 – 16).

Swiss-Belsuites will be showcasing its unique properties located in Auckland and Queenstown, offering luxury suites like no other. This marks the first year the company has had a presence at TRENZ.

With its first property opening in Auckland's Victoria Park in 2016, the hotel has gone from strength to strength in this time. It has featured on a number of high-profile television shows, as well as the accommodation partner for Vodafone NZ Music Awards and a designer partnership at New Zealand Fashion Week.

The management company then announced a new property acquisition in 2017 with Swiss-Belsuites Pounamu Queenstown, providing the brand with a luxury site in the adventure capital. This presence has seen the company support local tourism, as well as become official accommodation partner for the Audi quattro Winter Games in 2018.

These properties are both exquisitely appointed with modern fit outs, desirable locations and spacious suites that offer a desirable space to relax and unwind. You will be able to have a 3D tour of the properties at TRENZ while meeting and chatting with the team.

Swiss-Belsuites is owned by Swiss-Belhotel International – a global company owned by local New Zealand businessman Gavin Faull. While the company is relatively new in New Zealand, it has a significant footprint globally with more than 145 hotels around the world.

Swiss-Belhotel International is committed to growth in the local market and 2020 will see an expansion of its local portfolio, as well as the introduction of Zest Hotels – a cost-effective three-star accommodation option.

Secure your 15-minute slot and speak to sales director Matthias Schulz at booth 1006 about what Swiss-Belsuites can do for you, both now and in the future.
